COORDINATED CARE IN A RURAL CONTEXT

VŠĮ „NAMAI VISIEMS“, LITHUANIA

The experience of providing coordinated social care in rural communities through flexibility, cooperation, local resources and volunteering.

WHO WE ARE

VšĮ "Namai visiems"

- Non-governmental organization from Šakiai district, Lithuania
- Providing social services in rural communities since 2013
- Working with elderly people, people with disabilities, families and vulnerable community members
- Supporting people to live safely and with dignity in their own homes

Our goal is to provide support as close to the person and their community as possible.

RURAL CONTEXT

- Small towns and villages
- Long distances between people, services, and institutions
- Limited public transport
- Limited financial and human resources
- Aging population and social isolation

Rural care requires flexible and community-based solutions.

COORDINATED CARE IN PRACTICE

- Assessing each person's individual needs
- Combining different services and support
- Cooperating with municipality, institutions, and specialists
- Sharing information within the team
- Responding flexibly to changing situations
- Finding practical solutions when standard models do not work'

Coordination means connecting services, people, and resources around the person's real needs.

COMMUNITY AND VOLUNTEERING

- Volunteers help reduce loneliness
- Community members notice people's needs earlier
- Local partnerships help reach people faster
- Volunteering strengthens trust
- Human connection supports professional services

Volunteering does not replace professional care – it strengthens the whole support systems.

WHAT CAN BE TRANSFERRED?

- Rural care needs flexible solutions
- Trust and relationships are essential
- Local resources can become part of the care system
- Cooperation matters more than perfect structures
- Small organizations can create meaningful impact

Strong support systems can be built not only through large budgets, but also through cooperation, flexibility, and community involvement.
